and that "each company of the department shall appear for an annual parade and inspection," are explicitly set forth; but nothing is said about their duties as inspectors of buildings and making report to the board of mayor and aldermen, who are required to examine any building designated within ten days.

These are only quotations from our state laws, and explanatory ordinances for the use of our municipal departments should be furnished.

We are often asked by medical men and others if the city have an ambulance that can be used to carry the injured or sick to their homes or to the hospital. We are obliged to answer in the negative. Yet there have been several instances during the past year when such a vehicle was very much needed; and the board would recommend one to be kept either at the central fire station or at some centrally located stable, from which it could be quickly summoned for the use of the police or fire department, as well as for conveying patients to the hospital.

It may be added that these are small matters to bring before the honorable city government. This is true; yet the chances to perform great deeds are comparatively rare, and fall to the lot of but very few, while the sum total of human happiness in this world is made up of little things, almost infinitesimal in themselves, yet in the aggregate they make life's work a perpetual sunshine, or a dismal, fatiguing, uncomfortable existence; and while people should not be expected to endure the discomforts of the unsanitary conditions around them, still all must remember that the settlement of personal animosities and neighborhood disputes forms no part of the work of a health officer.

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER.

To the Board of Health:

On entering upon the duties of health officer for the season of 1888, I caused notices to be printed, and also published in the daily papers, calling the attention of the owners and occupants of tenements and other property in the city to the duty of cleaning up their premises and putting them in such a condition as to conform to the sanitary laws. This request was generally complied with, and a large amount of the cleaning of yards and vaults was done before the commencement of warm weather.

Attention was also given to a number of vacant lots on some of the streets and in the rear of blocks on Main street, that had been used for the depositing of all manner of rubbish. Owners of these lots were notified to have them cleaned up, and notices were posted thereon calling attention to the city ordinance in relation to this matter. Teams were furnished when desired, at the expense of the applicants; and quite a number of orders for the cleaning of vaults were also received, and given to parties who left their names for that purpose.

There are at the present time but two places specified in the regulations of the board of health for the dumping of rubbish. These are on the bank of the river, upon the city lot east of the river and north of the Free Bridge road, and in a similar position on the land of Messrs. Robertson & Rowell, on the west side of the river and south of the Free Bridge road.

There is plenty of room at these places for dumping purposes. They are easy of access, and people should conform to the rules, and not dump their rubbish on vacant lots or on the sides of the roads leading out of the city.

The number of requests and complaints for various causes during the past season was 109, as follows:

Bad well-water, ...	1
Bad drainage, ...	1

Defects in sewer-pipes,	9
Dead animals,	7
Dumping rubbish,	5
Filthy stables,	6
Filthy cellar,	1
Garbage,	2
General filth,	7
Rubbish,	24
Stagnant water,	1
Keeping pigs,	7
Keeping hens,	2
Offensive cesspool,	1
Offensive sink-drains,	4
Offensive manure-heaps,	4
Offensive vaults,	27

These complaints were attended to, and a disposition was evinced to comply with the requirements of the health ordinance.

From the inspections made in 1887, it was found that many houses situated on the line of the street-sewers were not connected with them, in violation of the laws relating to the same. Owners of houses thus situated were notified by direction of the board of health to conform to the laws, and connect their premises with the sewer. At last accounts 61 private houses and 55 tenements had been connected, which shows that good progress has been made in this direction. There has been no disposition to oppress any one, and a number who were not able, for good reasons, to make the improvement the past season will do so next summer. The building of the much needed sewer in the rear of the east side of South Main street, connecting with the one in Chandler street, furnishes sewerage to 17 more tenements, and the owners were ready to avail themselves of the privilege.

This sewer was mainly built for the benefit of these tenements, as they were so situated that they could not connect with the South Main Street sewer. The extension of the sewer from Washington street around into Centre and also a part of Pine street, will greatly accommodate the houses in that section. By the laying of a branch sewer near Fiske's lane, at the North End, to the land of Mead & Mason, the sewerage of thirteen tenements belonging to them is carried away instead of flowing out on the surface and polluting the soil. Most of these tenements were so situated that they could not connect with the North Main Street sewer, and the branch sewer was put in for their benefit. Credit is due to Mead & Mason for the efforts they have made the past season in providing better sewerage for their tenements in different parts the city, and also to A. F. Holt and the executors of the estate of B. F. Caldwell for similar improvements in the tenements on Turnpike street.

A great improvement has been made at Penacook by the construction of sewers in most of the streets of that village. A number of owners of private houses and tenements have availed themselves of this opportunity for better drainage, and further improvements may be expected during the coming year.

In one instance, in the compact part of the city, the well-water used in a block of tenements was analyzed by Prof. E. R. Angell, and found to be bad, and Lake Penacook water was substituted by the owner when it was evident that the well-water was unfit to use.

Where sickness and death have occurred from contagious diseases, and were thought to be caused by the unsanitary condition of the premises, an investigation has been made, and whatever was found to be wrong has been repaired by the owners. In one instance, in a double-tenement house where scarlet-fever prevailed in a family, a change was made from privy vaults to water-closets. In another case, where a death resulted from diphtheria, and a defective sink drain was discovered, the old drain was taken out, an iron pipe substituted, and a sink-trap put in.

The sanitary inspection was continued during the season of 1888 with the following results:

Streets inspected,	19
Blocks "	24
Hotels "	2
Private houses inspected,	225
Tenements "	250
Store cellars "	60
Livery and boarding-stables inspected,	10

Of the number of houses and tenements inspected there were found,—

Not connected with the street sewer,	88
Using surface drains,	56
Using cesspool drains,	29
Using stable cellar drains,	2
Using old well for drain,	1
Using these on lines of street sewer,	52
Using these not on line of street sewer,	36

Since the month of August a monthly statement of the mortality of the city has been prepared from the returns made to the city registrar. These have been furnished to the daily papers, and sent in exchange to other cities. The statement gave information as to the number and cause of deaths, death rate per 1,000, locality, sex, color, condition, age, and place of burial. The number of births was also given, and a meteorological report was inserted, taken from the monthly statement prepared by Hon. W. L. Foster. Reports in exchange have been received from various parts of the country, and contain much information. Notwithstanding the bad weather and the large number of sudden deaths from accident during the year 1888, I think that the death rate of Concord will compare favorably with other cities in the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. COOK,

Health Officer.

Concord, Dec. 31, 1888.

The sad and unfortunate cases of sickness and death from typhoid fever in the families of Harry and John Hawkins, occurred in the autumn of 1888. The former lived in a third-story tenement in Stickney block, and the latter in a tenement on Wentworth avenue.

Harry Hawkins was the first one taken sick, and died in September, after a short illness. His wife was stricken with the disease, but recovered after being taken to the City Hospital.

Mrs. John Hawkins was the next one taken sick, and died in October at her home on Wentworth avenue. The two daughters, Bessie and Ada Hawkins, and the nurse, Miss Tupper, who attended Mrs. Hawkins, were taken ill soon after, and were removed to the hospital. The sons, George and John, had symptoms of the disease, and were also taken to the hospital. Bessie, George, and John died at the hospital within a short time of each other. Miss Tupper recovered, and Ada, at this time of writing, is in a fair way to recover. John Hawkins, the father, did not take the disease, neither did any one in the families that lived in the other tenements. Thus, of the eight who were taken sick, five died and three recovered.

The tenement occupied by Mr. Hawkins, and owned by J. Wentworth, is situated on Wentworth avenue. It is in the west end of a block of tenements, and was formerly a stable, but some two years ago was raised up, a cellar put under it, and it was fitted up for a dwelling. Two other tenements in the block have connections, for the water-closets and sinks, with the same sewer-pipe as did the tenement occupied by Mr. Hawkins.

After the death of Mrs. Hawkins, I visited the house, and, in company with Mr. Hawkins, went into the cellar to see if there was any defect in the sewerage or plumbing. The cellar had a cement floor, and was in a clean condition. The water-closet was situated in the cellar, and was of the direct pressure style, and a ventilating-pipe connected it with the chimney. The pipe from the sink came down into the cellar, and entered the sewer-pipe near the water-closet. There was a trap in the sink-pipe just below the kitchen floor. As the soil-pipe was under the cement floor, I could not discover anything that was wrong about the drainage. The water-closet and sink-pipe were on the east side of the cellar, and the most of the soil-pipe was in the cellars of the other tenements. There was no soil-pipe ventilator going up through the roof as required in the city ordinance in relation to sewers and drains. Soon after this all of the family who were sick were taken to the hospital.

On the evening of November 4, Dr. S. C. Morrill, who was at that time the attending physician at the hospital, called at my house and said that a thorough investigation of the premises was desired, to find out, if possible, what was the cause of this sickness. Mr. Hawkins also came to me the next morning and made the same request. I immediately went to see Mr. Wentworth, and told him that something must be done in the matter of an investigation, and of a repairing of whatever was found to be wrong. He thought there was nothing the matter with the house, but was willing to do what was right about it, and as Mr. Hawkins had a lease of the house, he would make some arrangements with him about the repairs, if found necessary.

Workmen came soon after, and dug down to the sewer-pipe just outside of the house in the yard. They found that there was no trap at that point, although there were traps in the soil-pipes connecting with the water-closets of the three tenements situated in the cellars. Upon breaking into the drain under the cement floor, it was found to be filled with sewage-water from the sinks and closets. The water did not run off as it should into the street sewer, and there was not inclination enough in the pipe, both inside and outside, so that it was liable to be obstructed.

The repairs that were made, upon ascertaining the condition of the sewerage, were as follows: The five-inch Akron pipe under the cement floor was all taken out, and an iron pipe laid in its place. A trap was put in just outside of the house, and a ventilating or fresh air flue connected with it. The highest part of the soil-pipe in the cellar of Mr. Hawkins's tenement was connected with an iron ventilating-pipe run out through the roof. About seventy-five feet of the six-inch Akron pipe in the yard was taken up and relaid, and the right inclination given, so that there should be no danger of its being obstructed in the future. I think that the sanitary condition of the premises at the present time is good.

H. M. COOK,
Health Officer.

December 31, 1888.

REPORT OF THE CITY PHYSICIAN.

To the City Council:

In accordance with an annual custom and the provision of a city ordinance, the City Physician begs leave to submit the following report:

Whole number of visits made during the year, . .	43
Prescriptions given at office, ...	7
Obstetric cases attended, ...	1

It will thus be seen that there has been but little sickness among our city poor. And, although we had during the autumn months a protracted term of wet weather, which is conducive to disease and death, still our death-rate for the year will not be far above the average of that of years past. This matter, however, is fully discussed in the report of the board of health.

It may not be improper here to refer to a matter about which the City Physician has been questioned more or less during the year, namely, the cutting of ice on Penacook lake. Owing to greater enlightenment upon such subjects, our community is coming to recognize the value, from a sanitary stand-point, of pure ice as well as pure drinking-water. Nothing can be more erroneous than the popular idea that water becomes purified by freezing. If water is unfit for use, it can be hardly less so after being frozen. In support of this assertion, the following is quoted from page 9, Vol. 1, No. I, of The Sanitary Volunteer, the official organ of the State Board of Health:

"GATHERING AN ICE-SUPPLY.

"As the time approaches for the gathering of the yearly ice-supply, it would be well for all to remember that impure ice is as dangerous as impure water, and as readily found.

"Ice for domestic use should never be gathered from a source where the water before freezing was unfit for drinking purposes. The idea entertained by some that water, in freezing, eliminates its impurities, is a dangerous theory because it is false. Epidemics have been traced to the use of polluted ice. Analysis and microscopic investigations have shown ice to contain large quantities of organic matter, as well as bacteria, which became active when the ice was melted. The germs of typhoid fever, and probably of other diseases, may be imprisoned in ice, and after liberation, by melting, become active in the production of disease. These are facts well known in sanitary science, and they should be equally well understood by the people.

"Be as guarded in the selection of ice as in the choice of a supply of water. Gather ice only from clean streams and ponds. Purchase of no dealer who does not follow this rule."

We have in Penacook lake an ample supply of pure water, so the ice cut there is pure and wholesome; but if present methods are continued, this will not always be the case.

As you are aware, the ice is cut not far from the crib or intake of our water-supply. During the cutting and drawing away of the ice, fifteen to twenty teams (thirty to forty horses) are on the ice more or less of the time, and a considerable amount of excrement from the teams must of necessity be left on the pond. When the ice thaws in the spring, this, being so near the intake, contaminates the water which we drink. The question which has been asked is repeated here: Is there not some suitable apparatus which can be economically operated by steam or other motive power, by which the ice can be cut and floated to the shore, thereby doing away with the necessity of having any teams on the pond?

This is a matter which seems to be beyond the control of the local board of health; but I believe it is worthy of your careful consideration. Chapter XXI, Section 11, of the Revised Ordinances, reads as follows: "No person shall swim, bathe, or go into Penacook lake, or put therein, or upon the ice thereof in the winter season, or upon the shores so near the water thereof as to cause the defilement or pollution of said water, any animal or vegetable matter, or any other substance that will defile or pollute said water."

Section 6 of the Health Ordinance, passed March 31, 1887, the latter part, reads as follows: "He [the sanitary officer] shall also enforce the provisions of Section 11, Chapter XXI, relating to the pollution of the water of Penacook lake." As the parties have permission from the water commissioners, or board of mayor and aldermen, or both, to cut the ice, it is hard to see what power the sanitary officer may have in the premises, especially as he is not on duty during the winter; and as there are prescribed duties which demand all his time in the city in the summer months, it is impossible for him to be at the lake to enforce the ordinance during those months. There seems to be but one practicable remedy: see to it that the lake and the shores are not used as a pleasure resort, and allow no teams on the ice.

Is it not unwise, nay, more, is it not criminal, to allow our water-supply to become contaminated either in the manner of cutting ice, or by its surface and shores being used as a pleasure resort during the warmer months?

The City Physician takes this opportunity to express to you his own gratitude, as well as the gratitude which all those who have profited by it must feel, for the generous annual appropriation which you have made to the City Hospital, thereby making it possible for some of our sick poor to receive that care and attention which they could not possibly otherwise have enjoyed. An idea prevails to some extent among a certain class, that going to the hospital is equivalent to signing one's own death-warrant. This, no doubt, arises largely from the fact that all the deaths occurring there are published in the daily papers, while the recoveries are published only in the annual report. All who are acquainted with the institution know that the chances of recovery in the hospital are equal, and in many cases superior, to what they would be in one's own home. No more worthy use can be made of the city's money than in continuing the same appropriation for another year.

In closing, the City Physician would call your attention to the reports of the city marshal and board of health upon the condition of the lobby. When called to that institution professionally, as has happened several times during the year, he found a deplorable condition of things. Think of a man with a battered head, another with a lame hip and blistered feet, or any tired, unfortunate, and penniless traveller who happens to come along and want a night's lodging, being given a bed in that place! The best bed consists literally of two-inch hard wood planks, without mattress, pillow, blanket, or any article of bed-clothing. Think, again, of six or eight persons of both sexes,—drunks, criminals, and unfortunates, together,—being confined in a building of that size during a hot summer night, and with practically no means of ventilation! The odors arising from the bodies of so many persons, most of them filthy, would be almost unbearable; and when to this is added the emanations from human excrement, the place becomes unfit for dumb animals. The interests of humanity and common decency demand a condition of things radically different, and may the fair fame of our city soon cease to be blackened by that institution.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. CUMMINGS, M. D.,
City Physician.

VITAL STATISTICS.
