but it is well to pay some attention to the conditions existing in vacant lots, courts, alleys, and drive-ways used in common by several parties. Such places may not have any one especially interested who will look after their hygienic state. Pure air, pure water, and a pure soil are prerequisites that every citizen has a right to expect, but such conditions can only be maintained by the united will of the people that this standard shall not be deteriorated by a want of harmony of thought and action. Let every person consider for a moment that as an elementary part of Concord's population it represents a corresponding part of her popular voice in a work of this kind.

Sanitary reform is in no wise different from the progressive steps in every great and good work. Nothing of this nature ever outgrows or goes beyond the sentiment of the people. Enthusiasm on the part of a few who have given a great deal of time and thought to a subject must not be mistaken for the will of the people, who, for the want of proper information, may honestly differ upon very simple questions affecting the public.

It is as useless in sanitation as it is in any other social problem, to get so far in advance of public opinion as to have a reaction. An enthusiasm leading to such results will sooner or later receive a rude shock, for people are not inclined to give a universal acceptance to any one's theory of reform until they become educated and familiar with its principles. Then they become the exponents of public sentiment, and demand a reform with a force evolved from public opinion; therefore, no one can meet it with indifference. At the present time the press is placing before the people a great deal in the way of sanitary information, and we may confidently expect public sentiment to keep pace with the reforms necessary to keep our city in as healthy a condition as is possible. Therefore it surely behooves us to keep the matter of the future hygienic state of our city ever in mind, as ours is a government by the people and for the people, while we are but the servants of the public for a public trust.

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER.

To the Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN: The health officer herewith submits the report of the affairs of his office from the time when he assumed his duties on May 1, 1889, to the end of the year, December 31, 1889.

The number of requests for investigations and complaints for existing nuisances aggregate 383, and the nature of the complaints will be shown by the following subdivisions:

Bad well water,	6
Bad drainage,	12
Dead animals,	14
Defects in sewers,	27
Dumping rubbish,	6
Filthy stables,	9
Filthy cellars,	17
Filthy water-closets,	11
Offensive garbage,	7
Throwing out slops,	7
Accumulating vegetable matter,	12
Stagnant water in cellars,	9
Keeping hens,	8
Accumulating rubbish,	21
Keeping hogs,	16
Offensive cesspools,	11
Filthy premises,	7
Offensive sink-drains,	43
Offensive manure-heaps,	12
Offensive privies and vaults,	108
Offensive catch-basins,	16
Dropping manure in street,	4

From the foregoing it will be seen that the number of complaints brought to the attention of the office would average more than one for each day in the year; but every case has received its fair consideration.

A large majority of the complaints were proved to be well founded, and wherever a nuisance was found to exist its abatement was ordered at once. It is a pleasure to be able to add that in most cases the parties responsible readily complied with the orders of the health officer, and immediately provided for the correction of the objectionable matters brought to their notice—a fair indication that the public desire to sustain the officers in their efforts to enforce the ordinances relating to public health.

SANITARY INSPECTIONS.

The system of regular inspections for the purpose of ascertaining the sanitary condition of the entire compact portion of the city has been continued, and considerable progress has been made in tabulating and arranging for reference the information thus gained. This work has included the inspection of 271 private dwelling-houses,

306 tenement-houses,
41 stables,
7 meat-markets,
11 store cellars,
2 hotels,
10 business blocks,

making a total of 648. There have also been 364 inspections of premises, which have been previously examined, for the purposes of determining whether the orders and suggestions of the officer have been heeded, and for the investigation of new sources of complaint. As a result of investigations in particular cases, and of information gained by regular inspections, there have been issued from this office 466 formal notices embodying the orders and suggestions of the board in cases of the following nature:

Abatement of nuisances,	78
Cleaning of vaults and privies,	92
Providing water-closets,	112
Connecting with public sewers,	163
Removal of hogs,	21

There have been 134 cases in which vaults and privies have been removed and water-closets substituted, and 75 additional water-closets have been provided within the sewer district. These closets have been set in the following classes of buildings:

Private dwellings,	67
Tenement-houses,	123
Business blocks,	17
Hotels,	2

The number of families supplied would be in excess of this number, as it is not uncommon in tenement-houses to find two or more families with but one water-closet.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Cases of contagious diseases have been reported by physicians in each month since May 1, as follows:

	May.	June.	July.	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.
Scarlet-fever,	0	2	3	4	5	2	1	0
Typhoid fever,	0	0	3	6	1	3	0	0
Diphtheria,	0	1	1	1	0	0	3	0

These cases have been reported from the following wards:

	Scarlet-fever.	Typhoid fever.	Diphtheria.	Total.
Ward 1,	0	1	1	2
" 2,	0	3	2	5
" 3,	0	1	0	1
" 4,	2	0	2	4
" 5,	2	2	1	5
" 6,	4	4	0	8
" 7,	9	2	0	11
Total,	17	13	6	36

Of the above cases reported, two deaths resulted, one being an infant, from diphtheria, and one adult, from typhoid fever. Wherever the physician in attendance has suggested a possibility of the disease being chargeable to unsanitary conditions, investigation has been instituted, and the parties responsible have been required to make such changes and improvements as seemed necessary. Investigations in these and other cases have revealed the fact that many cases have existed, and probably others do exist, where the only trap used as a guard for connection with the public sewer has been situated in the pipe outside the house. This is believed to be a dangerous omission, as the house pipes are liable in time to become charged with noxious gases which can escape directly into the dwelling. To this error is undoubtedly chargeable many of the throat troubles which afflict women whose work requires frequent standing at the sink where the poisonous gases constantly rise. In all cases, a soil-pipe at least four inches in diameter should be carried from the sewer-pipe in the cellar upward through the roof of the house; and if this were made an absolute requirement by the health ordinance, there would be far less risk of contagious diseases. Cases have been found where the small lead pipes from the house have been inserted in the end of the large sewer-pipe in the cellar, with no attempt to close the opening from the sewer-pipe. As a result, the cellar must naturally become filled with sewer gases, which eventually find their way through the floors to the rooms above. A more offensive, if not more dangerous, result follows the stoppage of the sewer, when its filthy contents are discharged directly into the cellar; but even then the danger is not fully realized, as is shown by the fact that in some cases a considerable time has been allowed to elapse before the difficulty has been remedied. If no care is exercised, the stoppage of a sewer-pipe may easily occur, especially where a "slop-basin" is used.

The interior of the pipe becomes coated with the greasy substances in the sink-water, and the coffee grounds, vegetable peelings, bits of dishcloth, and other materials adhere to this until the opening is entirely closed. A noteworthy case of this kind was seen by the health officer where a six-inch pipe was completely filled, like a candle-mould, for four feet in length, the most of its contents proving a want of care in allowing matters to go into the pipe which should have been burned or buried. Cases have also occurred where the stoppage was directly attributable to the malicious acts of individuals, as where a full sized lobster was found in the pipe, and where a quart bottle had been inserted through a T.

Only one case of impure well water has been found; but in that case an investigation revealed the startling fact that two sinks emptied their slops into a rotten plank drain running within six feet of the well. That sickness existed in the families using the well was a natural consequence, as the analysis of the water by Prof. Angell, to whom a sample was sent, proved it to be unmistakably polluted with sink drainage. The well was ordered to be abandoned, and the premises have since been connected with the city water-works.

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

In accordance with the city ordinance, the sanitary officer has endeavored to provide for the enforcement of all the regulations relating to sewers and drains. It has consumed a great deal of time, but illustrations have not been wanting to show the necessity for oversight on the part of some municipal officer.

A few cases have occurred where parties, through ignorance or wilfulness, have attempted to make connections with the main sewer without a permit, but in every case they have been made to conform to the regulations as soon as the fact became known. Severe measures have been avoided, when possible otherwise to accomplish the desired results; but it may at some time be advisable to make an example of any one who knowingly ignores the health ordinances in this regard. In one case a man was found to be laying a sewer-pipe from his cellar to the main sewer, with the end of the pipe at the cellar lower than at its connection. In another case, a pipe being laid from a cesspool to the sewer was found to have its sewer connection high enough to have turned the stream from the sewer directly into the cesspool. Of course such mistakes are corrected, but they might not be until after much hárm was done, did not the inspecting officer discover it.

There have been 118 permits granted to make connections, and most of these have been directly inspected by the health officer, and such changes and additions made at the time as were required to complete them properly and satisfactorily.

It is recommended that such change be made in the city ordinances as will place the granting of permits to enter the sewers within direct control of the inspecting officer in order that he may be informed in ample season to be enabled to make inspection as occasion may require. As the permits are now issued by the Committee on Sewers and Drains, it is not always practicable in the busy season to notify the officer of every permit so as to give him proper opportunity to make examination before the work is too far advanced.

As a rule, the drain-layers licensed by the city council have properly attended to their duties, and have worked in harmony with the health officer in inviting proper inspection. It becomes necessary, however, to report the case of one individual who holds a license, who has persistently disregarded the requirements of the ordinances, and has apparently avoided any inspection of his work. This may arise from an assumption that his work does not need inspection, but of that the inspector should be allowed to be the judge, but it is hardly possible when it is discovered repeatedly that lateral sewers have been laid and completed before the permit has been asked for. Such action is demoralizing, and makes a grievance for other licensed drain-layers who desire to observe the regulations.

The inspections which have been made of lateral sewers connected to the main sewer have been as follows, the material being Akron pipe in all cases:

Length of	6-inch	pipe,	1595	feet.
"	5	"	4303	"
"	4	"	254	"
"	3	"	52	"

making a total of 6204 feet as used in 86 different lateral sewers,—an average of about 72 feet each.

The premises thus provided with sewer connections furnish lateral sewers for

66 private dwellings,
72 tenements,
4 school-houses,
5 stores,
6 stables,
2 meat-markets,
1 hot-house,
1 photograph room,

and 39 of the above have been connected with new houses erected during the year.

A part of the sewers referred to have been laid at Penacook, within the new sewer precinct there, and the fact that 42 sewer permits have already been granted in that village shows a general appreciation of the great improvement.

In six cases plank and cement pipe drains have been taken up in various parts of the city and replaced by Akron pipe.

At the suggestion or order of the board of health, there have been abandoned and discontinued during the current year,—

30 cesspools,
51 surface drains,
10 old wells used as cesspools,
7 drains discharging under stables.

A considerable sum has been expended in extending the main sewers to localities where needed, as will be seen by the report of the Committee on Sewers and Drains, and a considerable section is thus permanently provided with drainage facilities.

The extension of Warren street sewer from Tahanto street to Liberty street provides sewer accommodations for sixteen private houses now erected, of which thirteen have already connected.

The Pine street extension from Orchard to School street provides for nine dwelling-houses, of which five have already connected.

The Franklin street extension to High street provides for fifteen houses, seven of which have made connections, and there have been eight connections to the new sewer in the rear of the east side of South Main street, besides others of less number in other localities.

From the foregoing statement of the business transacted in connection with this office it will be seen that the duties of the sanitary officer are varied in character, but all intended to promote and encourage progress in providing for the health and safety of the public.

An equable temper and much self-control are required in dealing with many of the persons whose attention is called to an infraction of the law, especially where a suspicion exists that some individual has entered a complaint. Every effort has been made to enforce the laws with as little friction and hard feeling as possible, and in most instances it is believed that such efforts have been crowned with success.

For the uniform support and assistance extended to the officer by the members of the board of health, he returns his most grateful acknowledgments.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY A. ROWELL,

Sanitary Officer.

REPORT OF THE CITY PHYSICIAN.

To the City Council:

The services of the City Physician, for the year ending January 1, 1890, have been required as follows:

Whole number of visits made, ...	116
Prescriptions given at office, ...	6
Obstetric cases attended, ...	1

Nothing has occurred in connection with these duties worthy of special mention, unless it may be of interest to state that no case of any of the so called contagious diseases has been treated, which fact we may no doubt largely ascribe to the faithful work of our health department.

Respectfully submitted,

E. A. CLARK, M. D.,
City Physician.
