INAUGURAL ADDRESS
OF
HENRY E. CHAMBERLIN
January 27, 1920.

In assuming the office of mayor, I am sensible of the honor conferred by the citizens of Concord and also of the responsibility which that honor carries. I am sure that the board of aldermen is equally aware of its responsibility. The importance to the city of a board of aldermen that can consider questions from the standard of the city's interests alone, cannot be overestimated. We have been elected under a non-partisan charter and are expected to conduct the affairs of the city on that line. It will be my endeavor to do my part toward that end and I hope for the co-operation of the board. We are expected to manage municipal affairs on broad, sound business principles, the same as any business is conducted.

As originally intended, an inaugural address was to give in detail a plan of action for the year to follow but it is not my purpose to suggest many new plans. The matters that I shall bring to your attention are only those that from my experience in city affairs seem worthy of your consideration.

We shall be called upon to decide many questions, some old and some new and it is our duty to face the issues squarely and solve the problems presented in the manner that is best suited to the interests of Concord and its citizens. It is not necessary to remind you that in order to keep our tax rate as low as possible, strict economy must be observed in regard to city expenses.

The bonded debt of the city at the present time is as follows:

Municipal debt, made up of city hall, state library and bridge bonds and cemetery trust fund note,.....	$219,176.43
Precinct debt, made up of water and sewer bonds	463,000.00
School district bonds.....	184,800.00

The unfunded debt which includes amounts due school districts, outstanding city orders and accrued interest on bonds not yet due is approximately $60,000.

During the coming year we must pay the following bonds:

City Hall.....	$8,000.00
Bridge	4,000.00
Sewer.....	4,000.00
Schools.....	10,500.00

With city expenses increasing as they have in the past few years and as they will no doubt continue to do, it is needless to say that we must expect an increased tax rate in the same proportion. We should remember that all money raised by taxes is not for city expenses alone. The state and county expenses are increasing and consequently our state and county taxes are larger. The balance in the city treasury at the beginning of the present year was one of the smallest ever inherited by any administration. Therefore we should carefully consider our financial condition when acting on the several measures passed on to this board by the last city government.

One feature of the new city charter that has proved to be successful is that one relating to the assessors who are important factors in determining the financial condition of a city. We are fortunate in having a board of assessors who discharge their duties in a wise and impartial manner.

In my judgment it would be well for the heads of all departments to make their estimates for the coming year as low as they possibly can without impairing their efficiency and then keep within their appropriations. Estimates should also cover all expenses of the department, including the repair of buildings. In the past seventeen years there has been expended from the appropriations for repairs of buildings and incidentals the sum of $20,902.43 for the fire department and $5,605.08 for the police department. No other departments of the city have done this and I see no reason why money expended on these two departments should not be included in their accounts. In expending the appropriations, a city official makes a mistake when any consideration other than price, quality and service influence him in placing orders. Many dollars have been wasted because of a desire to reward their friends by purchasing supplies. I do not mean that this is common in Concord but there are exceptions and it is the exception that we must guard against. In addition to the department appropriations those for the hospitals, the District Nursing Association and the Charity Organization Society should be continued as they are giving valuable service to this community.

Concord is a city of which we may well be proud. It is well policed, well protected from fire, has a good water supply and is clean and sanitary; it has good streets, many of them lined with beautiful trees, is well lighted and its parks and playgrounds furnish places of recreation for our citizens; our schools, churches and public buildings are such as attract the attention of visitors to our city.

The police force is good and well-equipped. To this department is delegated the protection of the city and the enforcement of the law. The officers should keep their eyes open, not shut to that which is going on about our city and see to it that the law is not violated, treating all with courtesy and doing all in their power to make this city a clean and decent place in which to live. The expenses of this department have doubled in the last dozen years and with no increase in the number of officers excepting two chauffeurs. The expenditures in this department should be reduced to the lowest sum commensurate with efficient service.

For a city of its size, Concord has an up to date fire department. Motor-driven apparatus has proved to be satisfactory and economical and whenever necessary to purchase further equipment it should be of modern type.

Sanitary conditions in Concord are satisfactory and we have had no serious outbreaks of epidemics. However, we are without a hospital for contagious diseases as the old building that has been used as a pest house has been condemned and the land taken over by the state. Some provision should be made for the care of such contagious diseases as cannot be taken at the city hospitals. The District Nursing Association and the Charity Organization Society have given great assistance to the health department by their splendid co-operation.

No great amount of work has been done toward improving the condition of our sewer system since the expert sanitary engineer employed by the city a few years ago made his report. To fully carry out his recommendations would require a considerable expenditure of money and whether our financial condition will allow any large appropriation for sewers should be carefully considered. However, work should be continued on the Beacon street sewer and completed as soon as possible. There has been considerable agitation in the last few years in regard to combining the engineering and highway departments. I should very much doubt either the desirability or advisability of so doing. Furthermore there is sufficient work for the engineering department in determining the lines and putting in proper bounds on many of our streets and country highways as well as a large amount of office work that could be done on maps and plans that are needed by the several city departments to facilitate their work.

The city of Concord has been most fortunate in regard to the management of its highway department and we should remember that building roads is by no means the whole work of this department. The collection of garbage has grown to be of considerable importance, the proper sprinkling of streets under the present day conditions brought about by the automobile traffic and the care of shade trees have increased the work of this department to a large extent. Being supplied with equipment it has been an easy matter to put any work that the city might want done onto the highway department, which has often been a detriment to its efficiency. There are a large number of complaints made to this department that mean much to the individual concerned and when taken in the aggregate are difficult to handle. In complying with such requests it must be taken into consideration that should others ask for the same attention they are entitled to it. Many of these complaints come through the members of the board of public works and to satisfy the member of the board, the person making the request and to keep within the appropriations creates a situation often leading to dissatisfaction and difficulty for the department. It is due to the past careful and wise administration of the highway department and the quiet study of conditions here and in other cities that the highways in Concord today are as good as those of any city in New Hampshire and her reputation for good streets has reached outside New England. Like all cities we suffered for two years during the war from a shortage of labor and government restrictions on road materials and during that time our highways were subjected to a very great increase in motor traffic especially in the line of heavy motor trucking. With the condition in which this has left us and with the constant increase in automobile traffic that we must expect we face a situation in regard to our highways which will require the greatest efficiency and wisdom to meet in a manner that will be at all satisfactory. Fortunately, unlike many cities, no bonds have been issued and we carry no indebtedness for highway construction. The highway department is one of the most important in the city and deserves our thoughtful consideration rather than to be used as a means for paying political debts.

Our public library furnishes the community with excellent reading and is an important adjunct to our school system. The librarian is ready to do all in her power to meet the wishes of its patrons. I consider that the limited expenditures of this department are admirably placed and until the city or some public-spirited citizen shall provide a larger and more suitable library building it will be seriously handicapped in its work. If it were possible to arrange for a reading and reference room in Penacook it would be a great convenience to the teachers and pupils in the schools as well as to other members of the community who are often in need of books of reference.

We have an unusual number of parks in Concord and they are all well cared for. These with the various playgrounds furnish opportunity to all of our citizens to enjoy the great outdoors. Beginning with one, the John Kimball playground, the number has increased to six public playgrounds and there can be no doubt but that they are all doing valuable work with the young people of our city. I believe that better results could be obtained from the money expended if all the playgrounds were placed under one committee who should have charge of all expenditures. Organized work under proper supervision would bring better results to the young people. The committee having the playgrounds in charge might also have supervision of the public bath.

Few cities have as beautiful a spot for the last resting place of loved ones as we are fortunate enough to possess in Blossom Hill cemetery. The splendid appearance of all of our cemeteries testifies to the great interest which those in charge have taken in their work. The fence around the Old North is in a deplorable condition and some step should be taken this year toward making permanent repairs.

While the city government is not directly in charge of our schools, as citizens we are interested in their welfare. The expenses for schools have increased considerably in the last few years but we would not for a moment consider it wise to reduce the expenditures if it were to lower the high standard that the Concord schools have attained.

Nothing has been done on indexing city records since 1903. During the period of the war and since there have been many calls for records and a large amount of valuable time has been spent searching for them. There should be a complete index made of city records in the city clerk's office and more vault room provided. It is a lamentable fact that the vault room in the clerk's office at the old city hall was a third larger than that in the new building.

As city clerk it has been necessary for me to sign resident certificates for returned soldiers and it has been my privilege to meet some nine hundred of the men who have returned to their homes. It should make us all proud to know that our city sent such splendid types of men to represent us in the great struggle and we should erect a suitable memorial, worthy of the name, to commemorate their services in the world war.

In concluding, I ask for the co-operation of the board that we may work in harmony with the one end in view to do the greatest good to the greatest number of our citizens. We have taken an oath to serve them irrespective of party, class or creed and it is our duty to do so. Let us consider every matter that comes before us in a thorough manner and not act upon it until we are sure that we are right. And to quote a former mayor under whom I had the honor to serve, "In discharging the public duties which have been imposed upon us by our fellow-citizens, let us, one and all, ever keep in mind the welfare of this beautiful capital city of one of the grandest states of the best nation the sun has ever shone upon."
