REPORT OF PHYSICAL DIRECTOR.

Mr. Louis J. Rundlett, Superintendent of Schools,

Dear Sir: I am hereby presenting my report on the work of physical instructor for the year 1923-1924. This report deals briefly with instructions given, schools benefited and recommendations for improvement.

Instruction has been given in the following athletic exercises and games: football, baseball, basketball, track, hockey, boxing, wrestling, marching tactics and physical drills.

The Senior High School and Junior High Schools (Parker, Walker, Garrison and Chandler) received the most benefit from these instructions.

The greatest improvement shown was in the National Playground Association Tests given at the Parker School.

There is a vital necessity for a gymnasium in our school system.

“A close observer of youth cannot refrain from the belief that the softening influences of modern social life have already exercised a benumbing effect on youth.”

A suitable place where track athletics can be developed should be proposed and a committee appointed to investigate the matter.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE M. CALLAHAN.

The gymnastic movements are chosen and formed with the object of giving the body an all round harmonious development. Special stress has been laid on those exercises correcting round-shoulders and hollow-back, as the greatest need for these exercises has been found among the pupils.

Each pupil is required to wear bloomers for the class, so that she may perform the exercises more easily and derive the greatest advantage from the work.

A number have been given special corrective movements to do outside of their regular class time, the policy of the work in general being to bring all the pupils up to a standard form.

The above individual efforts have added much in accomplishing this end.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE MORRILL SCHOOL OF MECHANIC ARTS.

Mr. Louis J. Rundlett, Superintendent.

Dear Sir: In submitting this brief outline of the activities of the Morrill School for the past year, I am pleased to report a steady improvement in the work accomplished, methods of instruction, condition of equipment and general morale of teachers and pupils. It is worthy of note that while we, as a school unit, have performed our full share in the promotion of education during "School Week" and at other times, and have answered every call made upon us for assistance or co-operation, not a single teacher or pupil has been heard to complain. The action of the Board of Education in taking out Liability Insurance covering teachers and pupils has caused favorable comment from the press in all parts of the country.

Teachers.

For the first time since serving as the head of this department, I have had the satisfaction of working with a full staff of trained teachers. In my opinion, it is impossible to over-estimate the advisability of retaining teachers of proven worth. I feel sure that I second your own opinion when I say that the right kind of teacher becomes, through years of real service, a vital, loyal, and efficient power in a school system. It seems unnecessary to mention in detail the individual work of each teacher. They have all performed their respective duties efficiently and conscientiously and I trust every reasonable effort will be made to keep the Morrill School staff intact for the year 1924-25.

Equipment.

The installation of a second-hand linotype machine to our printing department has added much to the educational scope of this department and to its efficiency in producing projects of value to the school district.

The installation of an iron planer, surface-grinder, profiler, and bench-grinder, purchased of the Crawford Manufacturing Company, completes the equipment of this department. It may be desirable to add accessories or special attachments for the machines we already have, but on the whole I shall not recommend more equipment for this shop.

The sink placed in Room 5 has proved a real benefit to Mr. Wilcox. It has saved a great deal of time for the pupils and has been the direct cause of improvement in the discipline in this room.

It seems fitting that I should mention the two wood-turning lathes loaned indefinitely to the school by the Durgin Silver Manufacturing Company.

Projects.

Several large community projects have been completed this year, among which were the toboggan-slides and extra sections for the "Gun Club Ground" bleachers. Our regular school projects have been similar to those used in previous years.

Recommendations.

The only expensive machine which I believe to be greatly needed is a surface-planer for the wood-working departments. However, I shall not recommend its installation at this date. Nevertheless, I have three recommendations to make, which, if acted upon, will improve the efficiency of the school.

First: A new teacher should be added to the staff, having the necessary qualifications to present the related and academic subjects. The Parker School classes have become so large that it is necessary to divide each of them into three parts for shop work and two for history, which you see presents new complications in making out our schedule. It is also desirable that we have at least one class in English for such pupils as have failed and find it impossible to get into the regular fourth course English in the High School. The addition of this teacher would enable us to care for the Parker School pupils throughout the entire forenoon session, which would not only save each pupil nearly one-half hour per day, but would remedy the disadvantages manifested in passing between the Parker and Morrill Schools. The program for the Parker School pupils would then be something like this:

A. M. Morrill School	P. M. Parker School
History, Shop, Study	Assembly, Math., Eng.

Second: To the staff should also be added a student assistant capable of assisting in the machine, wood-working, and electrical laboratories. It is almost impossible at the present time for Mr. Wilcox with his full schedule and his large over-equipped room to keep his equipment and records in proper condition. It is nearly impossible, also, for us to do outside work for the District such as installing electric lights, putting up wall-board at the Garrison School, etc., because our classes are so large that it is impractical for a teacher to take his entire class with him on outside work. The classes in electricity are also too large to be handled efficiently, even in our well equipped electrical department, without dividing each class into two groups. It has also become necessary to divide grade classes into two and three sections. Furthermore, if a teacher happens to be sick, in most cases, it is impossible to provide instructors for his classes while he is absent. Up to the present year I have been able to claim that regardless of extra work or the absence of teachers the school routine was continued without a break.

Third: A clerk, preferably a young man from the commercial department, should be installed. If the records of this office and other routine clerical work were to be maintained as I would like to have them, it would be necessary for me to spend practically all my time at the desk. With nearly five hundred boys to account for, the necessary state reports and other records required, and the great amount of equipment and supplies to check and record, it is at once evident that a clerk is as greatly needed in this school as in any other school in the district. A clerk in the office would not only give me more time to supervise the work of the school but would give me time to follow up pupils who leave the school, either before or after graduating. This phase of my work is becoming of great importance. Business men are asking for our boys and each year I am doing more placement and follow-up work. You will no doubt recall that my predecessors were allowed pupils from the commercial department for one week at a time which enabled these girls to be of great assistance to the Supervisor. Since I have had the school, however, I have been allowed a pupil from the commercial course for only a few periods at a time and rarely, if ever, two days in succession. You will see that outside of copying or writing short letters, their services are of little use.

In making the above recommendations, I wish to call to mind that when I assumed this work, it was required that I strive to improve the school and to increase its activities. I have bent every effort to do this and in making these suggestions I am but endeavoring to carry out requirements.

Conclusion.

In conclusion, I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the loyal and kindly support given me during the past six years by the Board of Education, and all others with whom I have been associated in maintaining the excellent standard of this school.

Respectfully yours,

ROLAND G. HARTWELL,
Principal.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF HOME ECONOMICS.

Concord, N. H., Feb. 16, 1924.

Mr. L. J. Rundlett, Supt. of Schools, Concord, N. H.

Dear Sir: From February to June, 1923, the work of the Sewing Department only was under my supervision, and made progress which compared favorably with that of other years. The number of electives in the Parker and Senior High Schools showed a real desire for this work.

In September, the Cookery and Sewing Departments were combined and the Fifth or Home Economics Course was again put into the school curriculum. Of the 27 girls who elected this course, 21 are continuing the work; four have left school, and two have changed to other courses. Eighteen pupils elected the course in February—this indicates that Home Economics is not only wanted, but needed by girls.

Little change has been made in the Sewing Course for classes I, J, K, and L.

Instead of alternating the sewing and cookery in classes M and N, cookery has been taught in class M, and sewing in class N, the unit system being used. The work of this year is so planned that the pupil may know whether or not she wishes to elect the Home Economics Course in the Parker School.

The cookery in Class O has been practically the same as that for Class M only more advanced and requiring more study. The practical work done has been on a much larger scale, as the lunch-room provides a market for the food. However, this "market" should not be used to such an extent that it hinders the progressive course mapped out. During Educational Week, the girls of this class served two dinners; one to the Rotary Club and one to representatives of the various women's organizations in the city.

There was also an exhibit, or rather demonstration of work in the corridor of the City Hall on School Night. The serving of dinners is good practice for the girls and more such work could be done, but the present equipment is far too limited.

The sewing of this class has included the making of a set of underwear, a woolen dress and the hemming of table linen and the study of cotton and wool from the cultivation of the fibre to the manufacture of cloth. Millinery is included in the spring term. This department is more fortunate, in that the equipment needed to carry out a course is less than that required in the cookery department.

The Art and Music were not included in the Course during the first semester; the art, because of the illness of Miss Jones and the music for other reasons.

The Household Management, Organization, etc., in the Senior High School have not been included in this department, but should be, in order that the work may be more closely connected.

I sincerely hope that the Home Economics Course may become permanent, but suitable accommodations must be found if the interest of the girls is to be maintained until the new high school becomes a reality. There will be 21 girls in Class Q, 18 in P class and, I feel very sure of an equally large O class in the fall. Advanced work cannot be given with the present equipment.

Very truly yours,

B. LILLIAN BARKER,
Supervisor of Home Economics.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

Mr. L. J. Rundlett, Superintendent.

Dear Sir: Two methods of teaching music in the public schools are advocated by leading educators at the present time. One is the so called Song Method, while the other places more emphasis upon sight reading.

The Course of Study in music in the Concord schools has been arranged and conducted in the firm belief that every child should have the opportunity to learn to read music and that his enjoyment and appreciation of the art will be greatly increased by doing so.

Rote singing is taught in the lower grades and songs are in use in all grades, but above the second year, all music sung by the pupils is taught by note, that is, by the use of the syllable names and the movable doh. A brief synopsis of the Course of Study for the Elementary Schools accompanies this report.

Any method of teaching or course of study must, however, be judged and its value determined by the result of its practical application.

We have some excellent reading and singing in the elementary schools, much that is good and a little that is only fair. This estimate is based upon a comparison of the work here with that which I have heard in Boston, Hartford, Springfield, and in other Massachusetts cities.

In the Massachusetts cities which I have visited, about thirty per cent more time is allowed for music in the schools than is allowed here.

In the Kimball School Class K during last semester there was as good three part singing as I have ever heard in a like grade anywhere.

In classes M and N in the Chandler and Walker Schools we have really creditable four part work.

Owing to conditions which do not now exist, the singing in the Parker school during last term was not up to its usual standard of excellence.

The chorus singing in the Senior High School is better than for some time. One practice period of twenty-five minutes per week would not be enough to produce very good results even with a selected group of one hundred adult voices. The spirit of the school is good and they work willingly and do as well as they can under the circumstances.

During the last semester the H. S. Girls' Glee Club of fifty-five members was the largest in the history of the school. The Boys' Glee Club was small. Athletics and "work after school" kept many away. This term it is much larger and were it not for the scarcity of first tenors should do excellent work.

The Senior High School Orchestra last term was as good as any that we have had.

An orchestra made up of pupils from the Junior High schools has been organized and meets for practice weekly at the Parker School.

A choir of mixed voices, for practice in part singing, has also been organized at the Parker School with a practice period of forty-five minutes on Tuesday afternoons after school.

A small orchestra in the Garrison School is at work upon the Toy Symphony by Haydn, and a Girls' Glee Club has recently been formed for the practice of two and three part singing. Credit for this should be given to Miss Hickey, the very efficient principal.

Miss Colburn, Assistant Teacher of Music, is taking charge of the work in classes A to H inclusive, which she visits weekly. Miss Colburn also plays the piano for two Senior High School choruses and visits the Riverhill and Mountain Schools once in two weeks.

Her assistance is very greatly appreciated, as now, with the exception of the outlying schools, each room will be visited at least weekly and more time will be given to the various musical activities in the high schools.

Military bands have been organized in many city high schools, especially throughout the West. We have in our Senior High orchestra three cornets, two clarinets, one trombone and drums. This would give us a nucleus for such an organization here. We need, in addition to those mentioned, two melophones, one trombone, one baritone and one E-flat bass.

One melophone has been bought and is in the hands of a Parker School student. The four instruments needed would cost, at second hand, about one hundred and sixty-five dollars. If new ones were bought, fifty to seventy-five per cent more. I wish very much that these instruments could be secured at once and put to immediate use.

I cannot close this report without expressing my sincere appreciation of the very cordial attitude taken by all connected with our schools (from the Members of the Board of Education and Superintendents, down through the teachers and pupils of the various grades) towards that particular branch of the educational tree with which I am fortunate enough to be connected. To every one I extend my hearty thanks.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES S. CONANT.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF KINDERGARTENS.

Mr. Louis J. Rundlett, Superintendent of Schools.

Dear Sir: I hereby submit my report as Supervisor of Kindergartens for the year ending February, 1924.

In September, 1923, a new kindergarten was opened at the South End in the building on Dunklee Street recently purchased by the district. At no great expense in the matter of equipment this has been made into one of the most attractive kindergartens in the city. The school situation; attractive class of children; average number enrolled; large room, freedom of building and playground gives possibilities that might make conditions almost ideal.

During the last year many changes have been made in the equipment of the various kindergartens. In all kindergartens except the Kimball and the Walker, the long tables have been cut in two. The smaller table is easier to handle, a big item in small rooms where tables must be moved several times during the morning.

Block boxes have been made for all kindergartens except the Dunklee and the Kimball. In these boxes the larger building blocks are kept. More and more the small individual boxes of Frobelian material are being discarded, the blocks being "dumped" into a large box to be used as the child wishes. This does away with the strain of opening boxes; it also gives children more choice in selecting what they need.

A set of Hill floor blocks has been added to the Dewey equipment. It has been interesting to watch the children working with these blocks. At first the pleasure in using the large blocks and experimenting with them satisfied. Since Christmas, however, the work is progressing. More definite ideas in building are being shown, more blocks are being used, and the interest carries over to the next day. Before the year ends I hope for some project which will serve as a center for other group activities.

While I appreciate the fact that Hill blocks are still a "luxury," I feel that larger building material should be put in all the other kindergartens. This added material calls for the use of the child's larger muscles and also gives chance for more worth while work.

The tendency now is toward discarding all the finer "occupation" materials such as small pegs, card board sewing, paper weaving, etc., and using only those that will not cause strain to the nervous high strung child of today. Some of the discarded material at the Dewey has been loaned to Mrs. Lewis to use with her smaller children at play time, and to Mrs. Meade in her room at the Walker.

The pianos in some of the kindergartens are very bad. As the "beginnings" of music start in the kindergarten, it is unfortunate to have such conditions.

The suggestion was made in June that each kindergarten begin in the fall with an informal socially organized group. Definite directions were given to be tried out for a week or so, the result to be noted and discussed at the first Teachers' meeting in September when the course of action would be decided upon. This was done with the following outcome.

The Dewey, Garrison, and Kimball have continued working along these same lines of "purposeful activity on the part of the child," using the project method as the method of teaching and child development. The Dunklee, Rumford, and Walker are using more conservative formal methods, although some choice is left to the children. The change in method was to be entirely voluntary on each teacher's part, as lack of interest, unwillingness to cooperate and unfamiliarity with methods may lead to dangerous results. The teachers at the Garrison and Kimball agree that while this first year is hard and discouraging they have faith to see that it tends to bring out the best in the child's development and the results gained fully repay the efforts made.

Constant "checking up" on the part of the teacher is necessary to see that the children are progressing and in the right way. It is almost impossible to keep individual daily records of forty children, but the little bit jotted down each day is surely better than no record at all.

The number of visitors in each kindergarten is very gratifying. Opportunity to see the children working in their normal conditions counts for more than special days.

The number of children enrolled was larger this fall than that of last year.

Four new assistants were elected this fall. Each one is doing good work, and while inexperience is a handicap in some ways, this is offset by enthusiasm which is a valuable asset to any kindergarten.

Milk lunches are served in every kindergarten with the exception of the Dunklee. I believe they are to be put in here later.

Meetings of all the kindergartners are held on Tuesdays at stated intervals. The number held last year was twelve. The number held this year to date, seven. At these meetings items of interest in kindergarten education, both practical and theoretical are discussed and kindergarten news both local and general are exchanged.

Personal visiting in the various kindergartens is not an easy thing to bring about. With a large kindergarten of my own, the daily attendance good, an inexperienced assistant, frequent visitors, and special days it is hard to get away even for part of the morning. This fall I suggested that the kindergartners visit me, and so far four visits have been made. Discussions at teachers' meetings, informal conferences with individual teachers help to keep me in touch with the work being done.

In discussing the kindergarten situation of other places both in New England and the Middle West, I find our standards compare favorably. In some respects we have superior conditions, and in other ways we do not fare so well.

I wish to acknowledge here my appreciation of the kindly spirit and friendly cooperation of the different kindergartners working with me, the courtesies shown by the Board of Education, and the interest and helpful advice you have so generously given.

Respectfully submitted,

IYLA CHAMBERLIN,
Kindergarten Supervisor.
