REPORT
OF THE
TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

---

To the City Council :

The Trustees of the Public Library present their report for the year 1879-80, accompanied by reports from the Librarian and Treasurer covering the same time.

The library now contains 7,617 volumes. Two hundred and sixty-eight new books have been added during the year, beside replacing volumes in such constant use as to have become worn out.

The use of the library has been much the same as in the few last years. About the usual number of persons have accepted its privileges. Many valuable books are among the additions, both in the circulating and reference departments. For details, see the Librarian's report. The Statistical Atlas of the United States, in the reference library (presented by Senator Rollins), is a work of rare excellence of its kind. It is filled with valuable statistical information, and is adorned with a large number of maps and diagrams, illustrating the condition of the country and its stores of wealth, beside an accumulation of information upon a great variety of topics, collated from the census of 1870. This Atlas is worthy of examination and study by the curious, and by the seeker for such statistical information as it contains, pertaining to our country.

An especial need of our city at the present time is a public reading-room. The Board of Trustees believe the time has come when this need should be provided for. Opportunity now offers whereby this scheme can be accomplished by a small annual outlay of money on the part of the city. A room adjoining the library can now be secured for the above-mentioned purpose; and such a convenience and need can be sustained under the same management as the library. Provision should early be made to meet this want of our city, if no reasonable objection be found. Books, magazines, reviews, etc., can easily be supplied from the library to meet the demands for its maintenance. In this way the library can be utilized to such extent as seems necessary for this enterprise. This proposition being now before the city authorities for consideration, nothing further need be said upon the subject here, except that the Board earnestly desire that this proposal shall become an accomplished fact at an early day.

The Board continue to solicit donations of books for the library from its friends, for the benefit of all concerned.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT
CITY SOLICITOR.

To the City Council :

Since my last report, the suit of Harlan P. Gage and wife v. Concord has been settled by the city paying the plaintiffs the sum of $150, in full satisfaction of all claim they or either of them had for all damage and costs.

At the April term, 1879, the suit of John F. Edgerly and wife v. Concord was tried by a jury, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $6,125. Exceptions were taken, and the case was transferred to the Law Term of the Supreme Court. At that term the court ordered the verdict set aside, on the ground that the declaration in the writ was not supported by the evidence, and that a nonsuit should have been ordered at the trial term. At the October term, 1879, the plaintiffs obtained leave to file an additional count to their writ, setting forth that the city was liable on account of the negligence of its officers. This leave was obtained upon terms that the plaintiffs should pay all costs accrued to the time of filing the new count. The original declaration alleged that the city was liable on account of an insufficient highway, and the new count alleges liability on account of the carelessness of city officials in using one of the city hydrants. Exceptions were taken to the allowance of the amendment, and to the sufficiency of the new count. The case was transferred to the Law Term, where it is now pending. The writ in this action is dated August 30, 1876.

The suit of George W. Wadleigh v. Concord was commenced August 24, 1878. The plaintiff claims $1,000 damages for injuries done to a building owned by him in Fishersville, on the 18th day of June, 1875, by certain persons unlawfully, riotously, and tumultuously assembled together. The case has not been reached in court, but is ready for trial at any time.

On the 22d day of February, 1879, the First National Bank of Concord and the National State Capital Bank filed their several petitions in court, praying for the abatement of taxes assessed upon them respectively upon "money on hand at interest or on deposit," the same being upon their surplus funds, alleging that the assessment was "unjust, unauthorized, and illegal." In the case of each bank the tax thus assessed amounted to $732.

These petitions were entered in court at the April term, 1879, and trials were had before the court. The questions arising were transferred to the Law Term in June, and were subsequently decided in favor of the city, the court holding that the assessment of such taxes was just and legal.

At the April term, 1879, Thomas McGrath, of Manchester, filed his petition under the statute, alleging that, on the 13th day of January, 1879, he fell on the sidewalk in front of the store of Albert W. Gale, on Main street, and received severe injuries; that the sidewalk was icy, unsafe, and dangerous, through neglect of the city; and that the accident occurred on account of this condition of the walk. He claims that he was damnified to the amount of $300, and that he was prevented from filing his claim at the time, as by law required, on account of the serious nature of his injury, by reason of his absence from the city, and for other reasons, and prays that he may have leave to file his claim for damages with the city clerk.

Subsequently, McGrath asked leave to amend his petition by claiming his damages at $1,000 instead of $300. The petition with the proposed amendment has been referred to Hon. W. H. H. Allen, associate justice of the Supreme Court, and it is now pending before him.

The suits of Edgerly and Wadleigh v. Concord, and the petition of McGrath, are the only suits in court where the city is a party.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Board of Aldermen :

In accordance with the provisions of the ordinance relating to the Fire Department, passed March, 1878, I herewith present my annual report for the year ending January 31, 1880.

In the report will be found a statement of the number of fires, together with the losses and amount of insurance on the same, as nearly as could be ascertained.

The year has been comparatively free from fires, the department having been called out but eleven times, and the losses aggregating less than $20,000, the losses in nearly every case being fully covered by insurance.

The machinery of the department has been kept in good condition. Five hundred feet of hose has been added to the equipment at Fisherville, and one hundred and fifty feet at East Concord, to replace hose that had become worthless from age and long use.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the Mayor and the Committee on Fire Department, for their support in all measures tending to promote the efficiency of the department; also to the Board of Engineers, the officers, and the members of the entire force, my thanks are due for their prompt and willing support at all times.
